AMIC Conference on Communication, Technology and Development : Alternatives for Asia, Kuala Lumpur, Jun 25-27, 1993 . - Singapore : Asian Mass Communication Research and Information Centre, 1993.

lv (various pagings)

The conference sought to review the applicability of Western development theories and programmes in Asia, as well as the validity of assumptions underlying these theories and programmes in the light of the wide discrepancies in the sociocultural characteristics of the many countries and peoples in the region. It also reviewed advancements in communication and technology and their application to development initiatives in Asia.
